Show HN: Glimpse, Markdown reader using Apple's on-device foundation model

HackerNews 50% HN 2

Glimpse is a native macOS markdown viewer. The thing I built it around: the AI features run entirely on-device through Apple's FoundationModels (the same model behind Apple Intelligence). Summaries, key insights, an auto-glossary of jargon in whatever you're reading. Nothing...

SpaceX files to go public, and the math requires a little faith

TechCrunch AI 50%

The SpaceX S-1 is finally here, and the story it tells goes way further than rockets. The filing runs to 36 pages of risk factors alone, and the numbers inside match the ambition: a $28 trillion total addressable market, a pay package tied to establishing a Mars colony, and a...

Google's AI search is so broken it can ‘disregard’ what you’re looking for

The Verge AI 50%

Google's AI Overviews are running into an interesting problem right now. Earlier on Friday, if you searched for the term "disregard," the AI Overview section would include a response like what you'd see from a more traditional AI chatbot instead of the typical AI summary, as...

Spotify says its AI remix tool is for superfans, but I’m not convinced

The Verge AI 50%

AI covers and remixes of songs are already a blight on the internet. Spotify, YouTube, TikTok, and Instagram are awash in flat reggae versions of "Smells Like Teen Spirit," dinky country renditions of The Weeknd, and monotonous Motown reimaginings of AC/DC. Now, a new tool from...
