Show HN: HUD, an open-source minimal terminal UI for ClaudeCode, Codex, OpenCode

HackerNews 50% HN 26

I love terminal agents, but I don't love the decades-old-looking basic markdown interface. So I made Mirafold. Mirafold is an open source faithful browser re-skin of the terminal agent you already use (Codex, Claude Code, Gemini CLI). Nothing has changed about what your agent...

Show HN: Lefts - a domain specific language for building creative ML models

HackerNews 50% HN 6

Lefts is a small domain specific language for applied machine learning modelling. It is aimed at anyone that builds predictive models for a living and wants to focus on reasoning about model behaviour and building creative architectures, and not on building train/test pipelines...

Show HN: Mermaid flowcharts you don't have to redraw in a diagram editor

HackerNews 50% HN 2

I've made a new rendering engine for Mermaid flowchart diagrams that aims to remove the need for manual adjustment of layout. Mermaid is a popular text-based language for describing multiple types of diagrams. Several Mermaid rendering engines already exist. Most, like the...

OpenAI says it slowed Astra model development over security concerns

TechCrunch AI 50%

OpenAI said this model, which is still in development, reached its "critical cybersecurity threshold," meaning it could independently identify and carry out cyberattacks against traditionally well-protected real-world systems.

Cloudflare launches Kitesurf, a browser built for AI agents

TechCrunch AI 50%

Kitesurf is a cloud-hosted browser designed for AI agents instead of people. It uses less computing power than Chromium for common automation tasks, helping developers build browser-based AI agents more efficiently.

Fenix Flexin isn't even denying using AI to make 'Rubberz' anymore

The Verge AI 50%

It took long enough, but now LA rapper Fenix Flexin appears to have admitted using AI for the 80s synth pop-themed song "Rubberz." His comments follow the producer Medasin's videos claiming that an AI tool called Treblo (formerly Sonauto) was used to make the song, and the...

What's behind the Google AI shake-up

The Verge AI 50%

Some of the biggest names on Google's AI team got new jobs this week. In some cases, including for legendary Googler Jeff Dean, those jobs are no longer at Google. Given that Google's models seem to be behind the best of what's coming out of anthropic and OpenAI, is this a sign...
